To what end

To what end do we proceed so boldly
If all we are is chemical reactions
Yeah and what world have you, so deftly sold me

If you reduce me
If I have no soul to touch
No heart to love
No evil to rise up above
No angels and no ghosts
No real victories to toast
If I believe that this is true
Then I must ask
To what end do you proceed?

No fire in our eyes
No steel in our hearts
No magic in our songs
Are we just empty vessels

No fire in our eyes
No steel in our hearts
No magic in our songs
No fire in our eyes
No steel in our hearts
No magic in our songs

[Incomprehensible]
If I have no soul to touch
No heart to love
No evil to rise up above

No angels and no ghosts
No real victories to toast
If I believe that this is true
Then I must ask
To what end do you proceed?

Did I not feel your love
Did I not feel your hate
And did my heart not beat

And did my heart not break
And are these tears for naught
And are these worlds in vain
If this is all we are, then what have we to gain

What of all the art and books, music and poetry
What of all our memories
What of our hopes and dreams

They hold no value, then
We hold no faith but greed
So I must ask you
To what end do we proceed?
