I know it hurts, I know you're bruised
But it's only on the inside.
I know you're lost and you're confused
Yeah it's only on the inside.
I see you walk and you're dragging your feet
But it's only for a moment.
Stuck at the part where you feel incomplete
Yeah it's only for a moment.

It's not too late to walk in my direction,
When honey, everything you needs in your reflection.

Who's gonna walk you home and who's gonna hold
your hand?
When you're heavy like a stone and there's trouble
where you stand.
No I won't tell your heart where to go
I'll make it feel something it won't
You could rearrange the stars and make them all your own
But you can't fall in love alone.

I know you're torn and inbetween dreams
But it's all you've ever known.
And I know you're worn out at the seams
Yeah it's all you've ever known.
Well there's no place left for you to run
You can cast your past into the sun
Watch it light up the night and honey, you will be fine.

It's not too late to walk in my direction,
When honey, everything you needs in your reflection.

Who's gonna walk you home and who's gonna hold
your hand?
When you're heavy like a stone and there's trouble
where you stand.
No I won't tell your heart where to go
I'll make it feel something it won't
You could rearrange the stars and make them all your
own
But you can't fall in love alone.

You can't fall in love alone.

Tell me who's gonna walk you home...

Who's gonna walk you home and who's gonna hold
your hand?

When you're heavy like a stone and there's trouble
where you stand.

No I won't tell your heart where to go

I'll make it feel something it won't

You could rearrange the stars and make them all your
own

Tell me who's gonna walk you home (x2)

'Cause you can't fall in love alone.
