Do the twist in your twisting outfit
The loose tie with the loose limp wrists
Lift your dress enough to show me those shins
Let your hair stick to your forehead

Did you blush when our hips touched?
I can't tell, we are already red
Am I right? You give me the signs
Is that pink mist or just lit dry ice?

You twist and whisper the wrong name
I don't care and nor do my ears
Twist yourself around me
I need company, I need human heat
I need human heat

Let's pretend I am attractive and then
You won't mind, we can twist for a while
It's the night, I can be who you like
And I'll leave quietly before it gets light

So twist and whisper the wrong name
I don't care nor do my ears
Twist yourself around me
I need company, I need human heat
I need human heat

Twist and whisper the right name
I'm David, please
Twist as if you're just like me
You need company, you need human heat
You need human heat
