I'd give my life

In my darkest hours of pain and emptiness... when I had nothing to live for You gave me more than I could ever ask... and then persisted to give me more You said you knew I'd do the same for you and expected no gratitude In turn I owe this simple thing you saved by death I swear to you

For my enemies I have nothing to give but hate
For those who doubted me,
you're my enemies just the same
For those who gave respect my respect to you is paid
But for you my friends that bled by my side
I give more than blood for you

I'd give my life

In my darkest hours of pain and emptiness...
when I had nothing to live for
You gave me more than I could ever ask... and then persisted to give more All you have in death is those who shed their blood and tears with you You'd give your life for me, I'd die for you...
There is no greater truth

For my enemies I have nothing to give but hate
For those who doubted me,
you're my enemies just the same
For those who gave respect my respect to you is paid
But for you my friends that bled by my side
I give more than blood for you

I'd give my life
