"Until We Touch the Burning Sun"

I'm watching through the frozen window
Through the reflection of my face
There's a cold world out there
And I'm here, safe and deceitfully fine

This is my world
My heaven, my home, where I can be alone
Only hear and see
Hear and see things that really matter to me

When I open the door and look upon the haze
I can see a million eyes and the way they're gazing at me
Walking through the misery
Surrounded by the things that I don't want to see

I can feel the hopeless pain
And it's driving me insane
And today I'll make a promise
Just to break it my tomorrow

We will never learn, we will never turn
Our eyes to the world where the pain is reality
We will never see, we'll never believe
Until we touch the burning sun

I feel the breeze
The breeze that makes me realize that I am not alone
I'm here, I'm home and safe again
Behind the doors, locked inside, never want to leave again

I can feel the hopeless pain
And it's driving me insane
And today I'll make a promise
Just to break it my tomorrow

We will never learn, we will never turn
Our eyes to the world where the pain is reality
We will never see, we'll never believe
Until we touch the burning sun

We will never learn, we will never turn
Our eyes to the world where the pain is reality
We will never see, we'll never believe
Until we touch the burning sun

We will never learn, we will never turn
Our eyes to the world where the pain is reality
We will never see, we'll never believe
Until we touch the burning sun
