all my life i've been waiting for that one perfect girl and i never thought that she was you it's like it happened on purpose from something so worthless magic can come out of us two you never fail to make me smile whenever you are near starting today, i won't waste my time looking far when you're already here there's probably three billion girls in the world and i end up with the one called "you" i try to define a woman's worth but i mess up you leave me so confused

'coz you my bad temptation, not my ideal woman but they don't make 'em like you, no more
and if i was the last man on earth, then i rest assure you'd be that luckiest girl girl...

if i was the last man on this earth

i don't really bring you flowers some sweetness turn into sour but still we remain so strong we must got super powers our love's a survivor now i can't imagine my life alone

and i end up with the one called "you"

and if i was the last man on earth,
then i rest assure you'd be that luckiest girl
girl...

imagine me if i aint yours i'm like a hero without a sword i've got nothing more to prove but if given the chance to prove i would say...

and i end up with the one called "you"
you leave me so confused

and if i was the last man on earth,
girl...
