I remember beeing close but I don't remember leaving you so cold But I ran to far to hear you my love
But it's hard to look back
when you're all alone

But I guess that you were always on my mind
should have told you sometime
But I guess that you were always on my mind
should have told you sometime

I remember dreams of you but I don't remember beating you black and blue But I gist my life back on your lips
but it's hard to look back
when you're all alone

should have told you sometime
should have told you sometime
