

Johan Hargne

"Silent Flowers"

Visit "Silent Flowers" on MotoLyrics.com

I drove for miles, I drove for miles
under pressure of your smile,
to your home.
I couldn't see, I couldn't see
all the papers in the tree:
a hidden tome

But you were always under hide,
while the raindrops in the sky,
wrote a song about the never-ending lies.

Somewhere within this winter maze
I will always see your face,
just like a ghost.

But they were calling you again
and they covered you in pain
and the darkened, judging sky will stay the same.

A fallen town
I'm empty, out of sound
as the flowers grow so silent underground.
And all these years
I've waited here.
And now when I'm away the sky is clear.

A fallen town
I'm empty, out of sound
as the flowers grow so silent underground.
And all these years
I've waited here.
And now when I'm away the sky is clear.

Visit Johan Hargne page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.