(Johanna Demker)

You came around one night a shooting star out of the blue
I'm trying to remember what it was about you
But somehow you caught my eye
We had fun for a while
Then something somewhere failed
We started to pretend

The games you play to make me stay
Just where you want me to be
The games I play, the things I say
To make you think that you succeed
We're still in this foolish game
No one wants to be the one to blame
For lost desire
We want to be admired
So we play with fire
Before it goes out

You may not think I know you well enough to notice
But everytime you change your voice or leave out words I know this
I try to play along though I know something is wrong
Scared to offend
We start to pretend

The games you play to make me stay
Just where you want me to be
The games I play the things I say
To make you think that you succeed
We're still in this foolish game
No one wants to be the one to blame
For lost desire
We want to be admired
So we play with fire
Before it goes out

Come lay your cards on the table
I'm not fooled by the laws of romance

Say what you feel and we might be able To stand a chance
It's our only chance
