[Intro: P.R. Terrorist] (Sample)

What's up sweetheart? You know

You know you always wanted me to write a song 'bout you and all

Here it go, I have a lot to say so it's a lot of time in the makin' you know

But here it go ma', you know, here it go

(You're Something Else) It's like I seen your infinite potential

Somethin' other niggaz don't see (You're Something Else)

You was more than just a pretty face and a nice ass to me (You're Something Else)

I know I hurt you, and you know you hurt me (You're Something Else)

But that's just how the cookie crumble sometimes ain't it?

Girl you somethin' else, I should've left you on the shelf
But I seen you needed help and civilisin' is my duty I should've became your friend instead of stabbin' your wounds

Showin' you lust before love is what polluted the moon

You was hardly in tune with my mind, my body maybe

But forget my soul, that's how the young shit goes

Only 17 love when I lowered you in

You just turned 20 and I'm already seein' the end

(You're Something Else) We looked so good together but you can't judge a book by its cover

Do the knowledge and you shall discover (You're Something Else) That I truly love you, but believe that I don't

(You're Something Else) 'Cos it really doesn't matter and it probably won't

'Cos what we should've and could've been will never be

And the truth is you turned your back on G-O-D (You're Something Else)
