What's that in the sky
Do you see it flying by
Is it just my imagination
In it's pure frustration
To leave this world and fly

I cannot stay here, you know
They've made it so clear I belong
Up in the (grey?) away
From this below average day

They'll come back for you tomorrow
They can feel my loneliness and sorrow
They'll come into my window from outside
I'm going on a one-way secret saucer ride
Out of here
And mom, you should have known
That space that you call my home
Is not for me
Did you understand
Stay away from this below average day

Come with me and well be happy
Just me and?
They wont hurt us
They wont even try
Oh they will take us up in the sky
As we wave goodbye

Goodbye world
I cannot stay here
You know I don't belong
Do? think
Before I leave here

Take care of David
