"So Aware"

I'm so aware of your body, it's blinding my sight when you are near I'm so aware of your crying because of a life you can't begin So aware the fighting for dreams we lost that we left in between
So aware that I'm starving please open your heart and let me in

Just like a dream but I'm awake Visions seen are too real We live in fear what we create For we cannot take the truth
My heart would break to not complete emotions spoken to me
What we see and keep turning away
So we live a life of pain
Though we're never far from rescue

I can't control the life you breathe into me Don't you let the mystery disappear / no never

you are near
I'm so aware of your crying because of a life you can't
So aware the fighting for dreams we lost that we left in between
let me in
No, everything can be seen
Said we listen such a spiritual path in the soul
We keep underneath
So we seek only the visuals
And so we can hold the things we don't need Just a kiss make unconditional love Keep it close don't you end the story
So aware we better let it go I'm so aware of your body, it's blinding my sight when you are near
I'm so aware of your crying because of a life you can't

So aware the fighting for dreams we lost that we left in between
let me in

Just like a seed that needs the rain Wait until divine blessings reveal To heal our minds we forever chase Life we make it can be cruel Eyes can betray and be blind / don't let them lead you astray
So aware how divided we stay So can we steal some time to play
Or have I thought too much to hold you?
Have sweet time to play
Or have I thought too much to hold you?
So let it go for nothing's promised to be Once we leave our bodies, both we can dream together
