where you gonna be baby when the sign on the door reads closed and all your friends have packed their bags you're sitting there all alone where you gonna be hunny when the cold wind starts to blow and the sun is gone, the lighting strikes you got no place to hide you're gonna let go, move on admit you're not that strong come back once again, to the girl you were back then lighten up that heavy load, free your mind and free your soul come back once again, to the girl you were back then living life is letting go,

you're stuck in the gridlock you wanna move but the traffic's stuck and the light won't change from red to green and everything inside you just wants to scream piling high like a ton of bricks it's raining cats and dogs but you cannot fix your life to save your life but hunny don't you think its time

you're gonna let go, move on,
come back, once again, to the girl you were back then lighten up that heavy load, free your mind free your soul come back, once again to the girl you were back then living life is letting go, lighten up that heavy load.

oh baby, you're a shooting star oh hunny, you know you are now, now oh baby your mind at ease oh baby i'm begging please please come back once again to the girl you were back then lighten up that heavy load, free your mind and free your soul come back once again, to the girl you were back then living life is letting go

come back once again
