It's enough, by myself, I can't even hold it all together
Wanna run, let it out, but the conversation pulls me back
So I'm hanging on, to a pale medium

All the words are wrong
Out the air, coming too fast
I can remember through all the clashing voices
Just how it happened
And now it's static expressions
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever

Come between $\hat{\epsilon}$ and the feeling that there's no desire
Wanna run, let it out, how we ever come to stand so still?
And I'm hanging on, pull the thread, hide the eye

All the words are wrong
Out the air, coming too fast
I can remember through all the clashing voices
Just how it happened
And now it's static expressions
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way forever
We can not stay this way

I can remember through all the clashing voices
Just how it hapá¹—ened
And now it's static expressions
I can remember through all the clashing voices
Just how it happened
And now it's static expressions
