Jenna looks around her room and smiles
Lets the phone ring one more time
Makes him think that she is really gone
Makes him think that he's the one who's wrong
Stares up at the picture on her wall
Remembers when she used to have it all
Now those days are few and far between
Now it's all it takes to keep her clean

If you could be me and I could be you
Well maybe we'd see what we go through
I know

For you could be that picture on my wall
You could be the center of it all
You could be that picture on my wall

Jenna looks around her room and laughs
No one seems to think about her past
You can be a little bit more free
You could be a little more like me
And every time she looks up towards the sky
Giving up, she thinks she wants to cry
Rearranging all her long lost fears
Wonders when the logic disappears

If you could be me and I could be you
Well maybe we'd see what we go through
I know

Well you could be that picture on my wall
You could be the center of it all
You could be that picture on my wall

Well if you could be me and I could be you
Well maybe we'd see what we go through
You could be the picture on my wall
You could be the center of it all
Yeah, you could be that picture on my wall

If you could be me and I could be you

Well maybe we'd see what we go through
You could be that picture on my wall
You could be the center of it all
You could be that picture on my wall, oh oh
You could be that picture on my wall
You could be the center of it all
You could be that picture on my wall
