I wish you had stayed that night all those years ago
I wish you knew I wanted you for keeps Not just for a night of passion alone I wish you knew I wanted you to keep I wish you had known how scared I was but that I longed for your love I wanted things done right and that's the road that you don't walk upon very often

Oh if only you had stayed that night how different would both our lives be Oh if only you had stayed that night I believe you might have just saved me
would both our lives be

We've both left a trail of broken hearts behind us
We both walk with hatred at our heels We're both admired, revered and feared We're both lost but no one gets to see that side Oh We're both lost but no one gets to see that side Oh to be so lost

Oh if only you had stayed that night how different
would both our lives be
have just saved me
would both our lives be
have just saved me
