I got my guitar in my hand and rucksack on my back all my weight of my problems and I ain't coming back I gave you one big gesture if you are far too blind to see well there's no point in crying cos it was never meant to be

And I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go, for once you are on your own

And I won't look back cos there is no return from here Well I can't quite stop my heart from breaking so I just move on
All that I've done is try to show you love but now it's time that you walked on your own

I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting you go so walk on on your own Don't cry or expect me to return
And every love song that comes from this point will be for someone else

I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go
I am letting go
You are on your own from this point forward
You are on your own
I have let go
I have let go
