One night late in September we all sat huddled close together United round a fire admiring the starlite sky

Starry night, starry night, starry night star starry night

We all thought that'd live forever felt like gods watching over the world had a sense of peace yet adventure but over the years it seems to have disappeared

Starry night, starry night, starry night
star starry night

At the time we all felt like rebels youth was on our side and we knew our cause was right but look at us now we just conform cos no cause is worth fighting over

Starry night, starry night, starry night
star starry night

Star starry night, starry night
