All my friends say you're a player and I must be a fool for standing by and loving you When I know you're gonna break my heart that's what players do

And in the end all the sweet words fade into little lies I see it in your eyes you're a player through and through

And if you're playing me don't let me know
Cos it will hurt too much
Oh if you're playing me don't let me know
Cos it will hurt too much

You're player and I'm fool Once the hate is gone I'll forgive you until the next time you let me down like you do You'd think I'd learn by now but I'm just a fool I just can't stay angry at you even though you treat me like you do

And if you're playing me don't let me know
Cos it will hurt too much
Oh if you're playing me don't let me know
Cos it will hurt too much oh if you are playing me don't let me know if you are playing me don't let me know don't let me know
don't let me know
don't let me know
