In times of hardship you were always there comforting solidifying your presence was always felt In times when I cried myself to sleep it was always your shoulder I cried on Where would I be if it weren't for you?

How would I have survived without you?
For you've been my rock, my crack, and hope you've held me up when I began to fall

In times of trouble my feet never touched the ground because you carried me in your arms In times of trouble I never felt any kind of pain because you were my remedy my morphine
In times of trouble you've always been there for me

And what could substitute for your love?
I doubt there is any drug strong enough
My base, my lover and bestfriend
Your whole life took a backseat for mine

In times of trouble my feet never touched the ground cos you carried me in your arms
In times of trouble I never felt any kind of pain because
In times of trouble you've always been there for me
