Walking down the street today nothing means the same to me anymore
Looking round there's not a face a recognise here People I used to love, Places I used to go they are all go they are all gone

It's too late, too late
I left it too late
It's too late, too late
I left it too late

Emptiness can eat you up soul searching that never stops you don't know where you are until you are lost this town used to home but it's not home anymore, it's nowhere

It's too late, far too late
I left it too late

Left it too late, much too late
