Is it love or war cos I can't the difference anymore?
You say it's all over but I see you standing at my door Fast cars passing quickly and I'm the only stranger walking here
I guess I'll wait for the day when you finally say what you came to say Oh is itlove or war cos I can't tell the difference anymore?
You say it's all over but I see you standing at my door

Sometimes your silence says more than any words could ever do sometimes your silence says more than your beautiful songs ever could sometimes the silence speaks a little louder than the music does Sometimes the silence speaks and makes you wounded baby when the questions don't get answered that's when hurts grows
I know that your silence speaks volumes for you but is it love or war cos I can't tell no more it feels the same is it love or war cos I can't tell no more it feels the same
