You gave me a weak heart, God gave me soul
But still that is nothing compared what's been given to you
Nobody could reach you, nobody could see
You play up all well and for so long, so kind and so strong
Kind and so strong

If every of your dreams, would rip right at the seem
And all you ever did was wrong
If every little dream, is taken by the stream
'Cos all you ever did was wrong

So lost when I found you, crawled up in that chair
Believing that this is how it worse, you love then it hurts
Your breathing was silent, you were just skin and bones
You lost yourself and now you have and still it got worse
Still it got worse

If every of your dreams, would rip right at the seem
And all you ever did was wrong
If every little dream, is taken by the stream
'Cos all you ever did was wrong x 3

And every way you try, you get the same reply
'Cos all you ever did was wrong
And every little dream, is taken by the stream
'Cos all you ever did was wrong
