Distracted by the dominant attitude
Tired of being told what's what
It's time to recognize that the battered walls of this war torn ship
Are leading to distruction
We can't commit
Don't tell me what, what I want to hear
It's not helping me any
In the dark is what fear

So hard to let go
So hard to get out
But if I have to, I'll stand-alone

My heart broke!
I thought that now we're older, why do we act like children?
I left open door, I left it open wide, why can't you meet me in the middle?
My heart broke!
(Don't tell me what, what I want to hear, what I want to hear, what I want to hear)
Cause if it's time to let go
I'll let my guard down and I'll let you out

I don't want to accept this
It's so hard to be honest with ourselves
It's not like me to give up hope!
I left an open door, I left it open wide
I made myself so vulnerable
Why are people stubborn?
So selfish?

Life is too short
Life is too short
Life is too short

For constant battles and endless games
We've been caught at the impasse!
We've been caught at the impasse!

Life is too short!
Life is too short!

Life is too short!
When will I?
When will I?
