So we stay at morning they come she was gone at the first sign of trouble see how she runs then you're paralyzed her silhouette in light and she's dancing on your grave

The sunrise breaks what's done is done the wind blows cold through your bones and you see how they run when you're trice denied and you're paralyzed
I'll be the last man by your side

All of your castles may crumble and your ministers may lie I will still be standing
I'll be the last man by your side
