Light filters into the room
Beams split into multitudes Of angels, rainbows, or any dreams I make them be

Got pictures of you and me
Got a letter of apology Return address as far away as you can be

My head keeps searching for The parts of you I adore
I promise I will ignore How mean you could sometimes be, if you'd just

Please come back to me
Please come back to me
Please come back...

Healthy, relationship, words that never seem to fit need and greed have become more apropos

I'm convinced there's nothing more Than the struggle that's in store
For any soul brave enough to claim love Well I claim you, if you'd just...

Please come back to me
Please come back to me
Please come back...

feel the heat, you know I... feel the cuts, you know I'd... be a star that could lighten up your sky you know I'd... give you love, you know I'd fill your heart, you know I'd be a star that could sparkle in your sky if you'd just...

Please come back to me

Please come back to me
Please come back...
