It's been long since we've spoken thought that I might give a call did you like the flowers, a small token a gift for you is no trouble at all

It isn't easy here without you the days are long, nights way too hard I was hoping I could see you I miss your eyes, they touch my heart

she said no

Our little lady is asking for you don't understand where you have gone all she knows is she can't hold you thinks that she's done something wrong

Life isn't easy here without you she wakes at night to call your name I tell her you love her and you miss her but words from me just aren't the same oh baby come home please

she said no

You never face the consequences you'll always find some alibi you leave us behind all cut and bleeding you turn your back and you don't know why no you don't know why

She said no

It's been a long time since I've held you no other woman fills my arms I want to believe that you still love me somehow I know you're still there I'm falling apart and I need your answer just see my eyes and you'll find it there find it there

She said no
