Look into the sky, you can't erase what's in your eyes Look into the sun, you cannot face what you've become Through the shopping malls, you blend into the human walls
Your eyes search the faces, as you move within the places
That you once moved with her, that you once knew with her

When you were arm in arm showing happy to the world
You were arm in arm showing happy to the world arm in arm showing happy to the world is no one happy in this world

Grateful for breath, more than once you've cheated death Crushed till you scream, you can't awaken from this dream
This I will pray for you, this I will promise you For every lover that's gone, another comes along

And you will move in her, as if you always knew in her

You will be
Arm in arm showing happy to the world
Arm in arm showing happy to the world
Arm in arm showing happy to the world
you will be happy in this world...
