Let it snow
Let it come down
Let it filter through the sky
To the Gulf of Mexico

Let us sleep
Let us dream
Let us believe there is salvation at the bottom of the bottle into which I peek

Do you believe, there are no miracles
Do you believe...
We will not drown in the bottom of a bottle Searching for a genie that can't be found

So we climb, climb up a rainbow Swirling in the colors of her Majesty's best display of things we'll never know

Yet I believed, that if I climbed it up so high until I could not breathe

There would be some miracle
There would come a miracle
There would be some miracle
There would come a miracle

Some parts of life come true Whether we believe or whether not we want them to

Some of us we die as we try to fight the sea and hold back the tide

Praying for some miracle Waiting for a miracle Holding on for some miracle Praying for a miracle

So we wait
We watch the sky
We find painted in the clouds
The understanding that the miracle was you and I
It was always you and I
The miracle
was you and I
