Why do you cry for her she's not gone to heaven she's just around the corner with some man

You grieve as if she's died and been taken she's just slipped from you like water through your hands

She said, I know a little about losing people I watched 'em come and go like moving pictures of a life

You give what you can but they slip right through ya like they were never here they fade into the night

She looked at me and said, "I gave my all, to get nothing" the value of our lives won't fill a grave I'd trade my soul to be part of something I'd trade my life to be someone for a day someone for a day
