I was a child,
life in your arms you hold me the fire in your eyes stopped the bleeding the love in your heart kept me breathing

I feel I'm dying again.
I've got nothing but hatred for my lover and friend the lion in your eyes watches me screaming the cold in your heart keeps my blood freezing

Thirteen days, before you left me here staring thirteen days, before you tried to stop caring

Stare into the dark the emptiness of hell comes to enfold me take a long look at your sweet creation did you get a thrill to watch my heart breaking

Thirteen days, before you left me here standing alone thirteen days, before you left me to die on a phone

I cannot pretend, can't find an end oh, how I miss you I was your lover and you were my friend
I pray to God I never see you again

Thirteen days, before you left me here waiting to hold you
Thirteen days, before you forgot what I told you Thirteen days, that you gave to me only to take from me
Thirteen days, before you left me here breaking
