To wake up all alone beside you.
I called this love, called this my grace, my everything.
But these wounds are deep, cause we've been here for so long, I can't escape.

But now honestly, I know I am tired of running.
And now all my peace lies in these, these pierced hands.

And I cannot be, I can't be here,
I'll turn my back when I see her.

I've been searching all my life to find a name,
I've been trying.
I'd give up all my life to find some grace,
for my sins, I'm dying.

I'm waiting, I'll wait on you
To change me, please change me.
I'm waiting, I'll wait on you
To save me, please save me.
