Crusising 'round there's a sound with a place to go.

Tuning in tuning on like a radio.

Feel the sound in your head and you set the seal.

I believe it's a force of the life you feel.

Tuning on.

Do you know what the sounds that you hear will find.

Reach to space to the stars and another time.

I believe that they search like a seed to grow.

In the end it's the same anywhere you go.

Tuning on.

R. I really can't explain. (2)

Crashing out for the last and the final time.

Could a sound and a soul travel on combined.

>From the womb to the end is it everywhere.

Feel the beat of my heart and you know it's there.

R. I really can't explain. (*)

[Spoken by Kim while music fading.]

I really believe that sound reaches infinity.

Do you know what I mean?

I think it goes on and on forever,

and if that's true and it was linked to the spiritual side

of our lives,

well, then sounds could be alive.

And it's a part of all of us,

and not just something that is dead,

it's actually alive.

Can you imagine the possibilities for the future?

Linking the soul and the sound and then being able to make a giant spiritual musical machine,

actually a part of us and not just something you hear.

It's fantastic! it's just fantastic
