It seems that we've run out of words of praise
There's is nothing left for us to say
In the beginning there was lust
But now the thrill has gone away
You had my heart and now I want it back
We're nothing more than friends
And when I take a closer look at us
I know we're heading towards the end

Falling... out of love

I want to hold but my arms are numb
The words stay on the tongue
It seems that we are getting ready for
The day we know must come
We watch each other with the saddest eyes
Waiting for a move
The simple things in life are difficult
But still we have to choose

Falling... out of love
We're falling out of love
