"An Ode To Friendship"

OK - so that's it
You've decided we're no more
So let our ship sail
I'll stand lonely on the shore

As many as there are grains of sand
I will always miss you
And as many stars are in the night
I'll be dreaming of you

I'll not forget a moment
When I had you right beside me
I'll still want to see your smile
Even if you need to be free

Any person that reads our story
Their tears shall be found on the pages
And thoughts cast to ones they left behind
And the love that will echo through the ages
