I'm so lonely
Without you by my side
You said you'd never leave me
But you also said you'd lie

You told me I could count on you
And that I was your only friend
When I opened up and let you in
I trusted you'd be there til the end

Any trouble you had became mine too
And we'd take each step together
But why did I love you so
When you told me it'd not be forever?

You told me to stay away
From a friendship I would only lose
You told me that you'd break me
And I'd only end up being bruised

So here I stand with my heart in my hand
Somehow I know you'll break it
But I don't care - I'll stand by you
Because together I know we can make it
