(feat. Helgi JÃ³nsson)

We jumped across and we cross the sky
We fail to breathe and swallow the light

We mark the spot and we draw the lines.
We carried on and followed the signs

We drift away, and we loose the sight, we lock the doors, and borrow

There was in all of a sudden some five years later still smoke in the air
And I guess not all of the dust
has fallen to the ground

We jumped across the sky
we fail to breathe and swallow light We mark the spot in lines and follow the signs

We jumped across the sky
we fail to breathe and swallow light
We're drifting out of sight
And borrow

There was in all of a sudden,
some five years later still smoke in the air
And I guess not all of the dust
has fallen to the ground

We jumped across the sky
we fail to breathe and swallow light
And borrow
