In a moment of rebellion

To the rhythm of compassion

While we're waiting for the world to stop spinning

We go dancing through the ashes

And the panic of the masses

While we're waiting for the world to stop spinning

Stop spinning

The olden days are black and white on my TV

And nowadays the future looks the same to me

Unless you and I remind each other

To welcome welcome welcome welcome back colour

From the green rights to the blue prints

From the red nights of fluorescent

We are waiting for the world to stop changing

It's a fever an eruption a volcano it's a puzzle

While were waiting for the world to stop spinning

Stop spinning

The olden days are black and white on my TV

And nowadays the future looks the same to me

Unless you and I remind each other

To welcome welcome welcome welcome back colour

Welcome back colour

The olden days are black and white on my TV

And nowadays the future looks the same to me

Unless you and I remind each other

To welcome welcome welcome welcome back colour

Welcome back colour [x5]
