It's twelve o'clock
And you're not home
I've been wide awake
Cos I can't sleep alone
So I call you up
Even though I know
I'll just hear your voice on the answering phone

Since you went away
That's all I care
A little bit of air to catch my breath but

If I can't love you anymore
Tell me why am I living for
If I can't hold you every night
Then I don't wanna close my eyes
Not even the rain falls like it did before
Oh baby, if I can't love you anymore

Now it's 6 am
So I start my day
The alarm go off
You set it just yesterday
I would go to work
But I don't think that I should drive
With this broken heart
Trying to fool my eyes

I've been seeing visions of you walking down the street
It's the only thing that comforts me but

If I can't love you anymore
Tell me why am I living for
If I can't hold you every night
Then I don't wanna close my eyes
Not even the rain falls like it did before
Oh baby, if I can't love you anymore

Baby, I thought I've found a fortune
But it got lost when I lost you
Can somebody give me one good reason

Why you're not home
Please come back home

If I can't love you anymore
Tell me why am I living for
If I can't hold you every night
Then I don't wanna close my eyes
Not even the rain falls like it did before
Oh baby, if I can't love you anymore
If I can't hold you anymore
If I can't love you anymore
