Lyrics by Michel Martinez

In the morning, with the rising sun

You're feeling so damn lonely

Light a cigarette, but it won't be the only one

We all need something, to help us through

But don't believe the god they chose is right for you.
yeah you!

Christ could be King for all I know,

But, I believe there is a face that has yet to show.

Look deep inside, and tell me what's there,

And when you find yourself don't be scared.

Chorus

Wham Bam! It hits you in the side

Didn't you see it coming? You got nowhere to hide

Wham Bam! Now it's up to you

Make your choices, watch your dreams come true

Wham Bam! It hits you in the middle

What're you going to do sit around and diddle

Wham Bam! pull yourself out

When you do you'll know what life's about

It's morning, with a rising sun

You're feeling cold and lonely
Light a cigarette, smoke it, like it's your last one
We all need a someone, to help us through
But if you try, I know you can make too. yeah it's true
I could be Christ for all you know,
With the millennium here, watch out for the show.
Look inside, and tell me what's in there
And when you find yourself don't be scared.
Don't let your life get you down
We all have problems that go around and around and around
It's real important to stand on even ground
And when you do, that's when you'll hear that sound.
Repeat Chorus
Slowly
In the morning, with the rising sun, and you're feeling'
so damn lonely
