"Cold Winds"

Cool winds take away dreams
In the freedom of the night emptiness surrounds all
And ravens are whirling menacingly in my thoughts
Trying to cut through my brain, without the use of a knife
The blood of my veins have frozen with fear of evil
And cruel depression destroys with the sword
Impossible to avoid the eclipse of thoughts
And the abyss has opened her mouth to devour
STOP

But there is a power to change everything
There is a truth that will give power to live
There is a fairness, the dream is given to me
There is a faithful word, the word of Christ

The Cold is completely piercing the soul
Agony of thoughts, evil fate
The eternity of torment begins here
