When the winter turns to spring
And the cold has run away
And my memories of you
Are in a blossom's early trace.
In this quiet evening news
Of a yesterday embrace
When a moment's solitude
Finds me searching for your face.

I love you,
In your eyes,
I am born
Of tomorrow's rise.

Last winter was so lonely,
Last winter was so long,
And all my days were for you only
And now it seems that I'm alone.

In the smile on your face,
In your laughter in a room,
I can hear it when you call,
Saying live my life anew.
In the warm new sun's embrace,
And in your love that never fades,
There's a question and a space,
Won't you please let me explain.

That I love you,
In your eyes
I am born
In tomorrow's rise.

Last winter was so lonely,
Last winter was so long,
And all my days are for you only
And now it seems that I'm alone.

In a moment's healing grace,
All I know and all I do
Came to find an inner way,

Your destiny is calling you

I love you,
In your eyes
You are born in tomorrow's rise,
You are born in tomorrow's rise,
You are born in tomorrow's rise.

All my, all my days are for you only.
All my days are for you only
And now it seems that I know.
