Hes so beautiful and he doesnt even know
Hes what I was holding out for I gotta let that dream go But I spent 2 hours trying to figure out the color of his eyes
Ive spent every night since trying to understand why
And I want to wake up naked in his skin
I want one dream that he is not in Im so far gone
These thoughts are wrong
Love came once
I dont deserve this much
Hes so beautiful and hes unaware of me
His voice is unaffected while Im crying out desperately And I want to wake up with his fingertips brushing my face
I want one dream that he does not invade Somehow this is just like me to refuse to take you moderately
And these summer storms are the last thing I need to electrify this intensity
I want you, forget what I need Im falling so recklessly, falling so recklessly, Im falling so recklessly
Falling in love recklessly
Im so far gone
These thoughts are wrong
Love came once
I dont deserve this much
