so you left the home you never had
on your own how did things get so bad?
and you hitched a ride to the unknown forgot your address and your mobile phone phone and will they all remember me?

forget about their needs theres nobody putting you down that your spending you life hanging around well theres nobody putting you down but your draggin your life on the ground and you said some things you didnt mean well that is what you thought wasn't half that it seemed

and you hitched a ride to the unknown forgot your address and mobile phone as you get older a chip on your shoulder spreading like a disease...

well theres nobody putting you down that you spending your life hanging around
well there's nobody putting you down but your dragging your life on the ground stating your life hanging around

well there's nobody putting you down

(guitar break)

on your own how did things get so bad? hitched a ride to the unknown forgot you address and mobile home phone will they all remember me?

forgot about their needs

that your spending your life hanging around
well there's nobody putting you down that your gragging you life on the ground
