reborn, in another place vanishing without a trace daylight in another time disappear without a sign restore what we had before vanishing expired law a clear view of a fallen dream the one we will never see well waited a life time to make up your mind wait for the right time for you moment to arrive, to arrive

the first light of the first day can light your path along the way and all you kill, and all you take and all you fix and all you break

if you hide from yourself
you won't see no one else

yeah yeah yeah
