Well I never thought that I was strange
I always had something to do to think about
They say that some things never change
Well I guess they do 'cos I never thought I was strange
So I may be off the wall, just a little bit
May seem to be unfriendly
But that's not it
Well I never thought that I was strange
I never thought that I was strange
I always had something to do to think about
They say that some things never change
Well I guess they do 'cos I never thought I was strange
Strange looks from everybody around
Yeah, well I don't care 'cos I'm not foolin' around
I don't know what makes me different, and I don't care
(ha ha ha ha ha)
Maybe it's not my problem, why do they stare?
So I may be off the wall, just a little bit
May seem to be unfriendly
But that's not it
Well I never thought that I was strange

I never thought that I was strange
I always had something to do to think about
They say that some things never change
Well I guess they do 'cos I never thought I was strange
Sometimes I stop and think for a while
Well I don't know what makes me different
And I don't care
Maybe it's not my problem
Why do they stare
So I may be off the wall
Just a little bit
May seem to be unfriendly
But that's not it
Well I never thought that I was strange
I never thought that I was strange
I always had something to do to think about
They say that some things never change
Well I guess they do 'cos I never thought I was strange.
Well I guess they do 'cos I never thought I was strange
