I'm swapping first, middle eight and chorus,
For paper, pen and thesaurus,
The only thing I'm keeping is the girls in front of stage,
I might be a genius but I still want to get laid.

Being a rock star's not good enough for me,
'Cause you know I'm craving respectability,
My career is taking a different course, ah!
I'm gonna follow Chaucer,
I want to be an author,
Yeah, oh yeah, ho yay,
I want to be an author,
Yeah, oh yeah, ho!

Dickens. Tolstoy.

It's about time people began to see,
Not all rock stars are like Ted Mulry,
It's prejudice and my novel will be fighting it,
Just as soon as my roadie has finished writing it.

Being a rock star's not good enough for me,
I'm craving respectability,
My career is taking a different course, ah!
I'm gonna follow Chaucer,
I want to be an author,
Yeah, oh yeah, ho yay,
I want to be an author,
Yeah, oh yeah, ho!

Chekhov. Balzac.
That's who I wanna be! That's who I wanna be!
I wanna be someone French,
I wanna be Flaubert!
No, I want to be Polish!
I want to [escape], I want to go to England,
I wanna be, I wanna be
Conrad!
