

Lizzy Thin

"Little Girl In Bloom Lynott"

Visit "Little Girl In Bloom Lynott" on MotoLyrics.com

Little girl in bloom

With happy heart you wipe aside

Any sadness, sorrow or gloom

Tomorrow you'll be a blushing bride

That loves her blushing groom

Little girl in bloom

You watch the men play cricket

From the window in your room

See the ball go from bat to wicket

Pass away the afternoon

Little girl in bloom

Carries a secret

The child she carries in her womb

She feels something sacred

She's gonna be a mammy soon

When your daddy comes home

Don't tell him till alone

When your daddy comes back

Go tell him the facts

Just relax and see how he's gonna react

Little girl in bloom
All the clouds will go drifting by
So sing your lullabying tune
Every word is in your eyes
As you sit and softly croon
Little girl in bloom
Your love it fills the air
With the scent of the sweetest, sweet perfume
You feel so good you just don't care
You're gonna be a mammy soon
When your daddy comes home
Don't tell him till alone
When your daddy comes back
Go tell him the facts
Just relax and see how he's gonna react

Visit Lizzy Thin page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.