Every time I see you, my heart skips a beat
I feel my body burning from my head to my feet
The temperature keeps rising when you call out my name
All you have to do is lend me a smile, then I melt even more
All the while you sit there and act so cool

And he looks so damn refined,
So cool, so slick, so smooth
And he never lets you read his mind
He just sits there and acts so cool

Every time you talk, you capture the room
Every time you walk, my eyes start to zoom
Just to see you strut right across my way
You never give a clue if you see me or not
You just keep on the strutting and smiling alive
Then you sit there and act so cool

And he looks so damn refined,
So cool, so slick, so smooth
And he never lets you read his mind
He just sits there and acts so cool
He just sits there and acts so cool
