I don't need an explanation
I'll settle for just a sound
I was looking for redemption
Baby, this is what I found
Love has left your eye
There's no need for you to lie
Baby, love has left your eye

Love has left your eye
No matter how we try
Baby everything will die

Love has left your eye
And the fire went out
Like a fading star
Like my black-holed heart
Light years apart
In a world gone dark

Love has left your eye
There's no need for you to lie
Baby love has left your eye

You were looking for perfection
I'm glad I let you down
And God knows there's no protection
Cause this is what I've found

Love has left your eye
No matter how we try
Baby everything will die
